Vivekanand Education Society's Institute Technology organizes and participates in various extension activities with a dual objective of not only sensitizing students about various social issues but also contributing to community and strengthening community participation, for such initiatives VESIT has set up a society called as SORT (Social Responsibility Team).

VESIT's SoRT: SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY TEAM

At VESIT, the task of spreading the cause of Social Responsibility amongst students is spearheaded by a group of socially enthusiastic students, called the Social Responsibility Team (SoRT). Since its inception in 2008 by a group of enthusiastic students, SoRT has never looked back, being recently named as one of the most active groups (at institutional level) at social work and community services all over India.

Mainly focused at reaching out to the needy NGOs in and around Mumbai, SoRT has so far volunteered for more than 40 social work activities at VESIT and helped more than 10 NGOs through donations in kind and supplies. Every year, the team brings the students together to encourage them to participate in community services. Janani Shreedharan, who is presently a social work activist working for Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) and a VESIT alumnus, was the founder of this team.

In its first year as a council, SoRT won the hearts of many. The major highlight of that year was the adoption of the village 'Chinchpada' near Atgaon station in Thane district. Vaccination drives were held for the kids in the village and also two computers were donated for the school situated there. Apart from this major event, there a plethora of other events like a 'Go Green Campaign', Blood donation camps, SoRT Week, visit to ADAPT school, SoRT Premier Leagueduring the sports festival of the college. Sort aims to reach out to needy NGOs and individuals and inculcate the spirit of social work among the students of VESIT. "Be the Wings the World Needs!"

It's time to play a life saver for the many cancer patients around us. Blood related disorders like blood cancer, thalassemia, aplastic anemia and other genetic blood disorders are on the rise which cannot be completely cured by medication. The only possible permanent cure is through a stem cell donation from a donor like you. You can cure some serious blood disorder in a patient just by donating your stem cells if you are a perfect match by DNA.

The donation process is very much similar to blood donation with a needle in the arm.

All you need to do is fill up a form and give a small blood sample (4ml). You will be called to donate when you are found as a perfect match in the future.

Plastic Waste Elimination Drive: 30th September 2019 & 3rd February 2020

SoRT VESIT under the admirable guidance of Dr.(Mrs) Pooja Kundu and Dr. Sushil Duldhar conducted a plastic waste elimination drive in our college.

The prime objective of this campaign was for the students to grasp the impact an individual can create on our planet earth. The humongous amount of plastic waste collected from households was a mere fraction of the plastic generated every minute. Keeping this in mind, the least we could do is to make sure we recycle the used plastic and save ourselves from the detrimental effects of plastic pollution.

We managed to collect a whopping 70 kg of plastic on 30th September and 30kg of plastic on 3rd February, both of which was sent for recycling. This milestone was achieved owing to the undying efforts of the students, faculty, administrative and cleaning staff. A step towards a better, greener and plastic-free future!

E-waste Collection Drive: 7th February and 8th February 2020

E-waste has been a major threat to the environment with very little knowledge of how to manage it. Most people have no idea of how to dispose of their e-waste in an eco-friendly manner and end up selling it to scrap dealers or worse, dumping it in garbage bins from where it most likely ends up in landfills. The improper disposal of electronic scrap, which contains toxic metals, leads to air and water pollution, exposure to which can cause severe health problems.

E-waste Collection Drive

SoRT VESIT organized an E-waste collection drive with an aim to spread major awareness about the lesser-known hazards of electronic waste generated in our country. As a part of this initiative, we collected old, non-repairable and non-functional electronic waste material such as batteries, earphones, computer accessories, cables, stereos, television remotes, calculators, etc during these 2 days and ensured that the material is handed-over to authorized agencies in their mission to recycle and refurbish the electronic waste products.

The Social Responsibility Team successfully carried out this drive and managed to collect a whopping amount of 35 kgs of electronic waste which was sent for recycling. E-waste was brought in by the students as well as the staff members as a contribution to solving this growing ecological problem. Sort Council alongside the electronic waste being sent for recycling.

It is inspired by the vision of transformational change in the rural areas of India through the means of development by the influence of the premier institutions in order to formulate and architect an Inclusive India.

The foremost mission of Unnat Bharat Abhiyan is to enable and equip the higher educational institutions to work alongside people of rural India in order to bridge the major developmental disconnections between rural and urban sectors. This program would aid the institutes in identifying development challenges and conceiving innovative solutions in order to accelerate growth. This would in turn improve living standards and provide them with essential tools to sustain growth and development in sectors such as health, education, technology. This will give them key employment opportunities which in essence would also prevent large scale migration of villagers to urban areas.

Vivekanand Education Society's Institute of Technology was delighted to know that they adopted five villages under this constructive and wonderful initiative. These five villages are situated in the Wada Taluka of Thane district:

1. Ambisthe (26th September)
2. Asnas (30th September)
